

People Who Should Be Imprisoned

By Gail Grenier Sweet ©2006

- (1) People who mow their lawns in a grid;
- (2) People who say “No problem” instead of “You’re welcome;”
- (3) Old ladies who run their grocery carts into your ankles in the grocery checkout line;
- (4) People who use “impact” as a verb.
- (5) Those who engage in excessive PDA (Public Demonstrations of Affection)
- (6) Those who say “I want to give you a heads up.”

Note: Okay, imprisonment is pretty severe, and we do have a problem with prison overcrowding. But just imagine what life would be like without these people on the streets.
